HON. CASSIUS M. CLAY DIES FROM ILLNESS

Death Follows Attack of Tetanus at His Country Home Near this City.

STRICKEN ON
LAST SUNDAY.

Was Prominent Farmer and President of Constitutional Convention.

Surrounded by his family Hon.
Cassius M. Clay, farmer and public man, died at his home, "Aurvergne," three miles from this city, on the Winchester pike, Thursday night,
about 10 o'clock, following an attack of tetanus, from which he had been suffering since last Sunday.

The death of Mr. Clay was a distinct shock to the community,
although it was known that recovery
from his most recent illness was doubtful.

About three weeks ago Mr. Clay underwent an operation at a Lexington hospital, from the effects of which he never fully recovered.
A week ago Saturday he was able to attend the sale of the Bourbon
Warehouse Tobacco Company.

Mr. Clay was prominent as a farmer and as a business man, and was one of the most influential citizens of the county.

The funeral was held Saturday afternoon, and was probably the largest funeral ever held in the county.
The spacious rooms and halls of the mansion were crowded with friends
of this distinguished gentleman, scholar and statesman who desired to pay a last tribute of love and respect to his memory and to express by their presence their sympathy for the members of the bereaved family.

Mrs. Frank Pithian, Miss Flora Hill,
Prof. A. H. Morehead and Dr. Pithian composed the quartette which rendered "In the Hour of Trial," and
"When Peace Like a River." Rev.
Dr. B. M. Shive, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, offered prayer, and Rev. W. E. Ellis, pastor of the Christian church, read an appropriate Scripture lesson, followed by remarks which were altogether fitting, and expressive of the high esteem in which Mr. Clay was held, and of the nobility and dignity of his character.

As the casket was being moved "Art Thou Weary?" The body was followed to the Paris cemetery by a large concourse of relatives and friends.

As the casket was being lowered
from the home the quartet sang to its last resting place the quartet sang, "Some Day We'll Understand," after which Rev. Ellis pronounced the benediction, and all that was mortal of this distinguished citizen, devoted husband, father and friend was left to rest beneath a wealth of handsome floral tributes.

Mr. Clay was born on the old family homestead in Bourbon county on Mar.
26, 1846, and was the son of Brutus J.
and Ann M. (Fields) Clay. He was reared under the influences of a home of distinctive culture and refinement and was afforded the best of educational advantages in his youth. After completing a course of preparatory study in the Sayres-Classical School
at Frankfort, he gave himself a famous alma mater by entering Yale University. He was graduated with the class of 1866, and delivered an oration on his commencement day, being fifth in his class in scholarship.

After his graduation Mr. Clay returned to Bourbon county and has ever since been engaged in general agriculture and stock raising, through the medium of which he gained gratifying success, his methods being of the most enlightened character. In short he exemplified a progressive spirit and effective generalship
in his extensive operations along these lines and contributed in no small degree to the furtherance of the best interests of the county of his nativity.

A man of broad intellectual ken and well fortified opinions Mr. Clay very naturally became a leader in thought and action in this section and proved a beneficent force in public affairs.
At various times during his career
he has written articles on economic and political subjects, often anonymously, and he has given his heart and hand to the articles of faith of the Democratic party. In the past he has given much service to the party in this section of the State.

In 1871 Mr. Clay was elected by the voters of Bourbon to represent the county in the State Legislature, and so satisfactory was the quality of his statesmanship that he was chosen his own successor in the election of 1873. He was a valued and loyal worker on the floor and in the committee room and did much to further wise legislation. Still further honors were accorded him in 1875 when he was elected to represent his district in the State Senate, in which he served one term, and made a splendid record in promoting liberal legislation and the regulation of corporations and expenditures on the part of the State.

In 1889 he was selected as the delegate from Bourbon county to the constitutional convention by which was formulated the present constitution of tinction to serve as president of that important convention. Having large capitalistic and landed interests in this county, he was naturally interested and gave his influence and support to all measures tending to advance the best interests of his native county, and was especially active in bringing its industrial enterprises up to a high standard. During his career he has been identified with the banking interests of this city, and had served as President of the Deposit Bank. As president of the old Bourbon County Agricultural Society, a position he held for three years, the institution prospered to a great extent, and it was through his management that the stock-raising and agricultural pursuits were advanced through this medium. At the time of his death, he was actively identified with the affairs of the Society, and was also president of the Bourbon Tobacco Warehouse Company, organized more than a year ago, and which is at present in a flourishing condition. His devotion to his business interests in this concern hastened the illness which brought about his death.

Mr. Clay was a candidate in 1895
for the Governorship of Kentucky,
and in one of the most heated campaigns of modern times, was defeated by Hon. P. Watt Hardin, who,
in the regular election, was defeated
by Senator W. O. Bradley, Republican. This with one exception closed his political career. During the stirring period of 1899 he was closely identified with Governor William Goebel, and was one of his strongest supporters in this section of the State.

For a number of years he was a curator of State University, resigning
about a year ago on account of ill health.

In Bourbon county, on the 27th of January, 1869, Mr. Clay was united in marriage to Miss Sue E. Clay, a daughter of Samuel and Nancy T.
Clay, and to this union were born four children—Junius B., who died at the age of thirty-three years; Samuel H., who was twenty-three years of age at the time of his death; Ann L., who is the wife of William R. Shackelford, of Richmond, Ky.; and Sue E., the wife of Dr. Cyril Goodman, of Cairo, Egypt. Mrs. Clay died on the 6th of June, 1880, and in October, 1882, Mr.
Clay wedded Miss Pattle B. Lyman, daughter of Dr. A. B. Lyman, of this county. She survived her marriage by only one year, the only child dying in infancy. On the 6th of December, 1888, Mr. Clay contracted a third marriage, Miss Mary Blythe Harris, daughter of Hon. John D. Harris, of Madison county, becoming his wife.
She was born and reared in Madison county. Mr. and Mrs. Clay have two children—Cassius M., Jr., who was born March 2, 1895, and John Harris, who was born March 27, 1897.

GRAVES ADVOCATES FEDERAL CONTROL OF FORESTS

Henry S. Graves, U. S. Forester, spoke before the National Conservation Congress in session at Washington, dwelling particularly on the present policies of the Government in respect to the activities of the forest service. Referring to the attitude of the present administration, as to the so-called States' rights policy, which has advocated State instead of Federal control of forests, Mr. Graves says there is no thought of any change in the established system of Federal ownership and control. The Forester spoke in part as follows:

"The nation has an important stake in forestry. Here as in all other countries, the real development of forestry began when the Government took up its practice. Even today some persons would leave the forests entirely to private owners, others insist that the public phases of forestry are altogether a State this field unequalled for. Those who hold this view are usually either lukewarm concerning the need for forest conservation or opposed to restricting private activities. Yet unrestricted private exploitation of forests is impossible if we continue to have the forests that the nation needs.

"National responsibility in forestry is perfectly clear-cut. There need be no confusion with an equally clear-cut responsibility of the States. And as to private forestry little of value has so far been done that has not been an outcome of public action through State or Federal agencies, or both. The national work will always be the backbone of American forestry, not trenching on or interfering with State work or individual efforts, but serving as a guarantee that national needs which States cannot meet will be provided for on a national scale.

"Underlying the forestry problem are two fundamental considerations which should be emphasized and reiterated until thoroughly driven home. One is the public character of forestry. Both in the matter of a continued supply of forest products and in that of the conservation of water resources the public welfare is at stake. Secondly, stability of policy and permanence of ownership are essential to any successful attack on this great conservation problem.

"I am frequently asked as I travel about the country whether I am going to make important changes in forestry policy. I was asked that very often in 1910, when I first took office. I am asked it often this year. My answer is that what we are seeking is not change but the development of a permanent public enterprise with consistent and stable policies. The national forests were set aside in the recognition that the bulk of the lands should be handled permanently under public protection and control.

"The aim of the present administration is not to overturn, but to take every possible step to increase the efficiency of the organization, to adjust difficulties, and to advance as fast as possible the purposes for which the national forests were established. Secretary Houston recently said to me:

"Establish permanent boundaries. Classify your lands; segregate the agricultural land and fix right limits for what is needed as protective and productive forests. Develop permanent policies based on full recognition of lasting public interests, and settled forestry practice fitted to the individual needs of each forest and any changes necessary for that purpose; but make no changes that are not called for in the public interest. Carry out your plans for the development and increasing use of the forests; but, above all, make each forest work for community upbuilding and local as well as general welfare. We must always have in mind the men and women who are building up a new country and laying the foundations for prosperous, thriving commonwealths. We must try to study their needs and see where and how the forests can help them. But we must not cease to guard effectively against the evils of private privilege and monopolistic control of resources now the property of the public."

Hon. C. M. Clay.

Saturday, the following resolutions were adopted:

In the death of our President, Hon. Cassius M. Clay, we have sustained an irreparable loss. No man was ever more devoted to the welfare of an enterprise, no man ever rendered more unselfish, more efficient and more painstaking service to a business than did Mr. Clay to this company, and no man could have taken greater pride in the promise and success. Mr. Clay was a man of recognized ability and great sense of character, yet he was so eminently fair and just that he always treated with great respect the opinion of his associates, and so generous was he that he gladly gave credit where credit was due, and frequently gave to his associates credit that belonged to him. Mr. Clay was held in the highest esteem, not only by his associates from this Board, but by every employee of the Company. The Bourbon Tobacco Warehouse Company has lost its President, the county has lost its foremost citizen, the State has lost a man with but few equals, a man who could have filled with marked ability any position that was hers to give him, and yet the loss to his family is much greater. Beautiful and well deserved tribute has been paid by others, what more can be said? Words at such times are futile, we can only daughters our deepest sympathy in extend to the wife, his sons and his their bereavement.

Tona Vita Overcomes the Trouble in A Few Weeks' Time.

There is a remedy that is absolutely certain to build up those suffering from a run down condition. This remedy is considered the most successful medicine ever sold to the public in this country. It is called Tona Vita and it is fast becoming a national tonic, endorsed by physicians everywhere.

If you are debilitated, tire easily, have little strength or ambition and are nervous and depressed, get bottle of Tona Vita at once. You will be delighted to feel your old health and strength returning in a few days' time. If you have lost flesh, note your weight before taking and then get on the scales a week later. You will be astonished.

Tona Vita is sold by Chas. E. Butler & Co. (adv)

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is nearly always caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or impaired hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

HOW TO BANKRUPT DOCTORS.

A prominent New York physician says "If it were not for the thin stockings and thin soled shoes worn by women the doctors would probably be bankrupt." When you contract a cold do not wait for it to develop into pneumonia, but treat it at once. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is intended especially for coughs and colds, and has won a wide reputation by its cures of these diseases. It is most effectual and is pleasant and safe to take. DEATHS

BOLSON.

A telegram received by Paris friends Sunday morning brought news of the death of Mrs. Ida Bolson, wife of Mr. Ira Bolson, at Tucson, Ariz. Mr. and Mrs. Bolson formerly lived in this city, and moved to St. Louis about eight years ago, but last July they went to Tucson on account of Mrs. Bolson's health, hoping that the change of climate would be beneficial, but she steadily declined.

Mrs. Bolson before her marriage was Miss Ida Hardman, of Winchester, and Mr. Bolson is a son of Mr. and Mrs. June Bolson, who reside on Stoner avenue. The body will be brought to Kentucky for burial, reaching here probably Wednesday morning.

INDIGESTION, GAS OR SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Time "Pape's Diapepsin" in Five Minutes all Stomach Misery Is Gone

"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that just that—makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas, and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case will give you a hundred dollars' worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back.

It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach doctor in the world. (adv)

Paris People Give Credit Where Credit is Due.

People of Paris who suffer with weak kidneys and bad backs, want a kidney remedy that can be depended upon. Doan's Kidney Pills is a medicine for the kidneys only, and one that is backed by willing testimony of Paris people. Here's a case:

M. Holleran, 200 W. Seventh street, Paris, Ky., says: "Sometimes the passages of the kidney secretions were painful. I had backaches, too. I used much medicine, but was not benefited until I took Doan's Kidney Pills. They soon made me feel better and stronger."

Mr. Holleran is only one of many Paris people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Holleran had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c. at all stores. CROUP AND COUGH REMEDY

Croup is a terrible disease; it attacks children so suddenly they are very apt to choke unless given the proper remedy at once. There is nothing better in the world than Dr. King's New Discovery. Lewis Chamberlain, of Manchester, O., writes about his children: "Sometimes in severe attacks we were afraid they would die, but since we proved what a certain remedy Dr. King's New Discovery is, we have no fear. We can rely on it for croup, coughs, and colds." So can you. 50c. and $1.00. A bottle should be in every home. At all druggists. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia, St. Louis. (Dec.) (adv)

IF CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH AND SICK

Look, Mother! If Tongue is Coated Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative" and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely. A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system is full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is harmless; children love it, and never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages, and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Get the genuine, made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt. (adv)

FRANK CROXTON CONCERT IN PARIS DECEMBER 12.

Let everybody go to the Frank Croxtan concert Friday night, Dec. 12, at the Baptist church. Mr. Croxtan is the son of Prof. Chester Croxtan, formerly of Paris, and has gained a national reputation as a baritone singer. Those who have heard him want to hear him again. (23-tf)

CONSTIPATION POISONS YOU.

If you are constipated, your entire system is poisoned by the waste matter in the body—serious results often follow. How to Use Peruna for Coughs and Colds

If Peruna were used at the beginning of every cold, coughs would generally be prevented.

After the cough begins Peruna will generally stop it just as quickly as it ought to be stopped. To stop a cough before all of the expectation has been removed is to do great injury. After the expectation has been properly removed the cough will stop itself. That is the only proper way to stop a cough.

Occasionally a cough depends upon an irritable condition of the larynx or bronchial tubes, in which there is little or no expectation.

The problem of stopping such a cough is a slightly different one. Even in those cases Peruna ought to be taken, but sometimes it is necessary that local treatment be added.

Every one who has a troublesome cough or a lingering cold should write the Peruna Company, Columbus, Ohio, for a free copy of the "Ills of Life." There is no free pamphlet distributed to-day of more real value to the sick and afflicted than the new "Ills of Life." It is filled from cover to cover with actual cases of cough, colds and other climatic diseases in all stages and complications. You could scarcely fail to find your case exactly described in this book.

To neglect to do everything possible to get rid of a stubborn cold or chronic cough is very unwise indeed. Peruna has enjoyed a great reputation as a remedy in such cases for thirty or forty years. As a rule, a person who uses one bottle of it is always afterwards an enthusiastic advocate of Peruna. Peruna itself is a means of selling more Peruna than all advertisements put together.

Those who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets.

MRS. HINTON INJURED COMING FROM FUNERAL

Mrs. John T. Hinton had the misfortune to sustain a broken hip Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock when returning from the funeral of Mr. C. M. Clay.

Mrs. Hinton was in one of the forward carriages with some of the pallbearers, and when she reached Tenth street decided to get out of the carriage and go to her home instead of proceeding to the cemetery. Without waiting for the carriage to fully stop Mrs. Hinton jumped from the vehicle and fell. Mrs. Hinton had to be assisted to her home, she being unable to walk.

Dr. W. C. Ussery was hastily summoned, and upon examination found that Mrs. Hinton's hip was broken.

The chaperones were Mrs. White Varden, Mrs. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Swift Champ, Mrs. Harry Clay, Mrs. Clark Barnett.

—The Winchester correspondence of the Lexington Herald's Sunday issue contains the following interesting social note:

"Mrs. H. V. Thompson entertained on Friday afternoon at her beautiful home on Burns avenue with a charming reception, in honor of her guest, Mrs. Swift Champ, of Paris. Mrs. Champ, who is a sister of Mr. Thompson, is very popular in Winchester. Little Misses Marie, Warren Beckner and Margaret Thompson, pretty little daughter of the home, received the cards at the door, and Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Champ extended gracious welcome. Mrs. M. T. McEldowney, Mrs. J. W. Ishmael, Mrs. W. T. Ogden, Mrs. Charles Parrish, Mrs. James Nelson Hisle, Mrs. Sam Hodgkin, Mrs. Oscar Johnson and Mrs. Scott Judy graciously assisted the attractive hostess in entertaining the guests, about one hundred in number. In the refreshments the color scheme was artistically carried out. Mrs. John Keyes and Mrs. W. S. Masie presided at the tea table. The affair was to have been given also in honor of Mrs. Matilda Tyler, of Louisville, but she, because of illness, was unable to be present. Mrs. Woodson Moss, who possesses a voice of wonderful charm and sweetness, rendered a beautiful solo, while Miss Mary Elizabeth Caldwell, who also is a cultured soloist, gave two selections, which were much enjoyed. The singers were ably accompanied by Miss Susan Buckner, at the piano, Miss Mary Peoples, who was to have played, being detained at home by an accident sustained by her father, the Rev. J. R. Peoples."

ATTENTION

We will not be able to lay any service pipes from mains to gas meters after the cold weather sets in, as we cannot tear up the streets. So, even though you do not contemplate having the inside piping done now, it is important that the service be laid, and the inside work can be done at any time. The cost is small, and the benefits great.

BOLD THIEVES ATTEMPT BIG DIAMOND ROBBERY

Charged with disorderly conduct, two men who gave their names as John Brown and Wm. Bordeaux, are held in the county jail, suspected of being guilty of stealing diamonds to the value of $600 from Mrs. Wm. Kenney yesterday afternoon. Both men stoutly protest their innocence.

The robbery was committed in the lobby of the postoffice yesterday afternoon, where, Mrs. Kenney, accompanied by Mrs. H. M. Hamilton, had gone to register a package.

Brown, it is alleged, made advances to Mrs. Hamilton, to attract her attention while, both men crowded close to Mrs. Kenney.

The jewels were in a plush box in the purse of Mrs. Kenney's, which was laying open on the desk.

The box contained two handsome diamond rings, a diamond necklace and brooch.

Patrolman Fred Link was notified and after he had obtained a description, warrants were secured for their arrest. They were taken into custody at 11:30 last night by Patrolman Link at the boarding house of Mrs. Linville on High street. Mrs. Hamilton identified them as being the pair that accosted she and Mrs. Kenney in the postoffice. Late last night all attempts to locate the missing diamonds had been without result.

INTERNATIONAL INFORMATION BUREAU.

It would be a difficult matter for Americans to reach true conclusions as to what constitutes a monarchical government machine.

Still they have a basis to go by, taking the strenuous government this country had a few years ago, when such great energy and zeal worth of a better motive, American money and corporations were driven, via the big stick route, into the Secret Treasury of the English Government Syndicate. Some of the corporations of which control was thus secured in large deals similar to the Tennessee Coal and Iron Corporation, are certain steamship lines. The case referred to is where the English Government's American representative secured with American dollars, and went into that same Syndicate Treasury where others of past generations have gone. These ships sail as secret syndicate property and were put under British flag, causing considerable criticism at the time, but it appears that as the ships sailed out of sight the incident was forgotten.

While the oceans are wide with many harbors, English Government Syndicate ships can be found everywhere, sailing under various corporation names, but always under the Union Jack flag. No country on earth has contributed more ships into the Syndicate's Treasury than has the United States. When the constitution is upheld in every sense, the Monroe Doctrine carried out to the letter and the rights of the people are earnestly protected, then it will be found that the people of this country were not permitted to contribute and construct the Panama Canal without a far-fetched purpose and design. The people of this country have provided and own the ships as well as the canal. It is by the monopoly of ocean commerce and playing the middleman between nations that the greatest injustice is done to all nations, although apparently but little realized by any of them. All undertake to remedy economic evils within nations by temporary and local national legislation, instead of going at the head of the evil and adjusting matters from there downward and outward.

The Panama Canal may well be considered in connection with the strings of steamships that Americans have contributed to that syndicate treasury. It may still be remembered that the Panama Canal is a production of Americans, the same thing also applies to the ships. Here is a case where Americans were first made to produce the ships and then the Canal. Then comes in a corrupted European government heading an international secret financial and political syndicate and in its first move diplomatically dictates how the Canal should be managed.

When it comes to considering the operation of the Panama Canal lessons might be taken, but the operation of the Canal should be carried out with greater justice to all concerned than is the case with the Suez Canal. Concerning the Suez Canal the English Government owns first the "Canal," and second nearly all of the "ships," especially freighters dealing in commerce. The Government Syndicate then makes the first and second work hand in hand and puts the tolls in the Suez Canal so high on all ships that it just about shuts out competitive steamship lines of other nations from European-Oriental trade.

The Suez Canal in its present form was constructed and mostly paid for by the people of France. This was done by securing subscribers for large denominations to interests in the Canal for its construction. The Latin nations of Europe invariably employed this method for raising funds from the wealthier for any important undertaking. While the Latin nations employed this system of raising funds from the wealthier classes, the English Government inaugurated the corporation and stock exchange system, forming a secret compact with the House of Rothschild heading the Jews of Europe. Out of this secret compact with the House of Rothschild, the present international stock exchange system was developed and is carried out without either government supervision or control.

The stock exchange system operated by secret instruments of the English Government may well be compared to that employed by the Latin nations for raising funds among the wealthier families. To illustrate the difference, we shall explain a few incidents that happened in Europe immediately after the last Presidential election in this country, after which the English Government Syndicate seemed anxious to convert American trust stock at high prices into cash and cut down its holdings in this country. At the time the $250,000,000 deal with the Czar of Russia was reported in Germany and Austria there was a danger of the Triple Alliance declaring war with England and its auxiliary, the French Government. The report of the $250,000,000 investment seemed to answer the purpose of notifying the German Emperor and the Triple Alliance, that England had the aid of Russia, which was also demonstrated by Russia's change in tactics. The report in the German and Austrian Press of the Czar's investment of $250,000,000 in American securities was used as an inducement to get others to invest in so-called "American Securities." Two particular instances came to our notice where laboring men with small savings were confidentially advised by their Jewish broker-bankers to invest holdings in these so-called "American Securities," which in these particular cases were corporation stock, Steel Trust stock and the stock in three railroads, two of which were the Union Pacific and St. Louis and San Francisco railroads. By this method of classing corporation stock as staple securities and disposing of it at the high tide in values, all basis for legitimate rating of interest is abolished.

There were several motives for crowding sales of American trust stock. By confidential whispering of a prospective panic in Germany and Austria the stock was more readily disposed of the banks were drained, foreign exchange was run up and the fight was taken out of the Emperor. By converting American trust stock into cash, the effects of prospective tariff legislation were evaded and at the same time the English Government Syndicate was supplied with funds mostly produced by Americans for making the Chinese $500,000,000 and other large loans.

The method employed by the English Government Syndicate to secure complete control of the Suez Canal was a piece of political trickery little short of devilish. This control was secured with the aid of the corrupted Rothschild French Government and courts. Some of the best men of France who had control of the Suez Canal were led into a financial trap in connection with the first Panama undertaking and were financially ruined and socially disgraced by the House of Rothschild French Government and the corrupt secret syndicate courts. Among the financially powerful taking such an active interest, was the British Ambassador to Paris, who figured as the principal foreign manipulator for the English Government Syndicate in the Suez Canal scandal and among the secret clan, when talked about before others he was simply referred to as "X." It was the devilish policies of these powerfully great before the world, by which the simpler people of France were deceived and which made it possible to cast a manufactured disgrace upon some of the best and most respected families of France. This happened about thirty years ago; since which time the better class of citizens of France, fearing fierce contentions and manufactured disgrace have held aloof and have taken little active part in public affairs in France, thus making it possible for the corrupted House of Rothschild Government to serve with a free hand as an auxiliary of the English Government.

The modern deplorable spiritual and political conditions in France are directly traceable and had their origin in the crushing of truly patriotic and respected men of France in connection with the English Government Syndicate's greed for securing complete control of the Suez Canal.

When the contemptible methods are understood as employed by the English Government for acquiring complete control of the Suez Canal and by this means of the Orient, then it may be understood why the surmounting of almost impossible obstacles in constructing the Panama Canal was made feasible. Careful consideration of international conditions in the world as well as leaders in matters of finance and commerce. The Panama Canal opens a new gateway between the old world of Europe and the Orient, with America by the changed conditions as the main base of operations. Divine Providence evidently never intended that the Panama Canal should be either used or controlled by the dull, deceptive government of a little European island.

SUGGESTIONS LOOKING TO A Time-Saving and Effective Legislative Program.

Except the long session of 1892-3, mainly occupied in adapting the statutes to the present constitution, the coming session of the General Assembly, on account of the embarrassed condition of the State Treasury and the revision of our fiscal system to meet its future conditions, and to adapt its methods to the recently adopted amendment to the constitution, and other pressing matters, will likely be the most important one held in a generation. With all this work in view, with the limitations of a sixty-day session in mind, and in the light of many years of careful observation of legislative methods at our own and other State Capitals and at Washington, the following outline of procedure is respectfully suggested for the consideration of members.

1. That a caucus of the Democratic members of the House be called by the proper authorities to meet in Frankfort not later than the middle of December, for the purpose of nominating all of the officers of that body. As such nominations would be equivalent to an election, this would enable the Speaker, after such consideration of the membership as may be possible, to frame and announce the committees and for the organization to be completed and ready for work on the first day of the session. This caucus in advance would involve little extra trouble or expense to members, as most of them will go to Frankfort within the next few weeks to select their seats or on other business, and they can easily make one trip answer for all these purposes. No such advanced caucus would be necessary for the Senate, as the presiding officer of that body had already been selected and the announcement of the committees and completion of the organization could be easily effected in one day.

2. Such a change in rules as will substitute for the tedious and time-consuming "bill days," which have heretofore taken up a large part of two days of each week, the provision that bills may be introduced at any time when the House is in session by simply dropping them in a locked receptacle at the Speaker's desks, as is done in Congress and in many other States. This would enable that officer to take the bills to his room for such consideration of their subject matter as may be necessary for their proper reference.

3. That all bills shall be referred to the committees having charge of the matters to which they relate, without suggestion from their authors or other members from the floor or greatest and most obvious evil in permitting the author of a bill to select the committee to which it shall go, this change of rules will go a long way in protecting the Speaker from personal importunity of the appearance of discourtesy on this point, and prevent the reference to and consideration of two or more bills on the same subject by different committees, with the confusion, loss of time and public danger inseparable from a custom which should have been since abandoned, and which has been abandoned almost everywhere else. 4. That the House shall meet an hour or more earlier than in the past, the time thus gained and the early days of the session, so far as may be, to be devoted to the reference and first reading of bills. Few committee meetings are held in the morning, and, especially since the increase of the per diem to $10.00, it should be no hardship for business men, or for any other man serving his people in a representative capacity or enough account to be there, to observe what are considered ordinary business hours at home.

5. We should be just before we are generous, and, with the idea that the same rigid business principles should obtain in public as in private affairs, and that, while each department or worthy activity of the State should have its fair proportion of the available revenues, no expense should be incurred without providing funds to meet it the appropriation committee shall in effect be made a "Budget Committee," to which shall be referred all bills and resolutions containing appropriations, or involving expense, before they can come up for final action.

6. That bills shall be printed in the order in which they are introduced and, under such penalties as will get results, copies of every bill shall be on the desk of members not less than five days after their reference.

7. That, except upon a majority or two-thirds vote, no bill shall be introduced after twenty days of the session has expired, and that at the end of thirty legislative days, if it then appears that the work of the session would be enhanced by such action, both Houses shall adjourn for a month and then reconvene. This would give opportunity for hearings on all important bills—probably for the passage of some of them before the recess—and for such a leisurely study of, and for conference with specially informed constituents about, all pending measures during the recess as should be most advantageous.

8. That Kentucky, and especially its General Assembly, has had enough of personal and factional policies to last a long time, and efforts to inject the aspirations or candidacy of individuals or factions for future preferment, upon what should be strictly business session, will be looked upon with disfavor.

Such a program as is here outlined, modified as may seem best after full discussion and criticism, ought to go a long way in securing ample time for the sane and orderly consideration of every important measure to come before the session, without the rush and confusion of the past, which have often proven so dangerous to the interests of the people, and for which an antiquated, vicious system rather than individuals is to be blamed.

The legal questions involved in the proposed adjournment and all the other changes have been submitted to, and passed upon favorably by the Attorney General. The suggestions are made purely in the public interest, and, in the light of the work to be done, are at least entitled to earnest consideration. There is no pride of opinion back of them, and if some other member will propose a better plan it ought to be favored instead.

Rubber shipments from Federated Malay States have totaled 4,772,800 pounds—100 per cent. increase over January, 1912. Consul General Cunningham states that further monthly increases are anticipated, with the many young plantations coming into bearing.

D. D. D. Opens New Era in Cure of Skin Disease

Professor Budlong's case of eczema was known to almost every hospital and physician of reputation throughout the state of Connecticut. His letter is another interesting demonstration of what is being accomplished by the famous specific D. D. D. Prescription. It may be of interest to you to know that your life-saving preparation, D. D. D. Prescription has been of incalculable value to me. I was covered with eczema from head to foot when I began using your remedies. I could get no relief, although I tried a thousand means. I applied but two bottles of the Prescription; a cure was effected in a very short time, in less than one month."—Prof. C. J. Budlong, South Lyme, Conn.

Ask any druggist today for D. D. D. Prescription. He'll tell you it allays the itch instantly—and soon there are signs of cure.
We have handled the remedy for years and regard it as the specific for skin troubles of all kinds. Come in or ask us about D. D. D. Prescription, also about D. D. D. soap especially for tender skins.
We offer the first full size bottle on the guarantee that unless it stops the itch at once, it costs you not a cent.

NEW CURE FOR DRINK— FRUIT AS A SUBSTITUTE.

In the December American Magazine, Henry Detmers writes a little article entitled "A New Cure For Drink." Mr. Detmers says that he has been in the saloon business for twenty years. He is not a drinker himself and none of his sons drink. Out of his experience he recommends the following cure for the liquor habit:

"I found early in my experience exceptions of course—that regular consumers of fruit was not a very good customer in my business. On the other hand, a typical 'booze fighter' seldom touches fruit. I always kept some apples behind the bar for my own use, and I often experimentally offered one to a 'star customer,' who almost invariably refused. The more I looked into this matter, the more firmly I became convinced that these two habits clash. Not caring to have my boys acquire the one I inoculated them with the other, and I have found that the fruit habit early acquired acts as a perfect antidote to the liquor habit."

"I mention apples especially because they are something like bread, one never tires of them, which is more than can be said of peaches, pears and oranges. And apples, thanks to cold storage, can be had every day of the school year."

"Why shouldn't the apple habit be cultivated in the public schools at public expense? School trustees could advertise for bids to supply the school. Then by means of a push-the-button contrivance placed at the boys' and girls' exits each child could get his or her apple as they marched out to play at recess time. Two apples a day would do the work. Children have a veritable craving for fruit. I have often heard our victims beg another for the 'core.' And if it happens that I have merely imagined that the fruit habit offsets the drink habit, I know that two apples a day will have a valued influence on the health, good temper and morals of the child."

"Please understand that I have no axe to grind, I do not own a single apple tree."

I have never claimed to have discovered that fruit juices act as a liquor antidote, although I have talked it for twenty-five years.

Some three years ago an article appeared which claimed a Nebraska physician as the discoverer of the theory. The good doctor and I will never quarrel over it. He can have the glory. I do not need it. I am only too glad to see that my views have gained some scientific backing.

"If you remove the desire for drink the liquor question will solve itself, and while poverty may not be banished the general welfare of the people will be much improved. And even if my scheme is never adopted I will feel a thousand times repaid for my pains if I can only convince the mothers of our country that those who have the means to do so, that to implant the fruit habit in their children is the best assurance for a temperate life."

Nay, Nay!

A young gambler had just asked her to be "his'n," and the maid popped her head in the room and said: "Did you call, sir?" "What? With the hand I'm holding? Not on your picture postcard!"

What Was Wrong.

"Grandma," cried an impulsive youngster, hurrying back with his new little jacket, "this is a lovely coat and I love it, but you've made an awful mistake. You've put one button too many at the top and one buttonhole too many at the bottom!"

If a man started explaining at 9:23 a. m. on November 1, 1913, and kept on explaining until 11:13 p. m. on June 30, 1978, he couldn't explain to his wife how it was that she found a perfumed, lace bordered handkerchief in his pocket.

MISSIONARY CONFERENCE HELD AT CARLSLE

A conference of foreign missionary workers of the Christian church, that was attended by a number of missionary leaders, was held in Carlsle Friday. A banquet was served in the Christian church in honor of Rev. James C. Ogden and Mrs. Ogden, natives of Nicholas county, who are to leave this country in January to resume their missionary work in Tibet, the banquet being in the nature of a farewell to them from their home people. Mr. Ogden is the living link missionary of Carlsle and Nicholas county.

Among the speakers at the conference were the Rev. A. McLean, Cincinnati, president of the National Foreign Missionary Society of the Christian church; the Rev. R. H. Crossfield, Lexington, president of Transylvania University; the Rev. D. M. Walker, pastor of the Christian church, Stanford; the Rev. J. H. McNeil, pastor of the Christian church, Winchester; the Rev. J. W. Hardy, financial secretary of Transylvania University, Lexington; the Rev. Carl Agee, pastor of the Christian church, Little Rock; the Rev. Dela Metcalfe, pastor of the Christian church, Concord; the Rev. W. V. Wilkerson, pastor of the Christian church, Blue Lick Springs; and the Rev. James C. Ogden, missionary at Batang, Tibet.

At the evening session the principal address was made by the Rev. A. McLean, of Cincinnati.

At the banquet the Rev. William G. Eldred, of the Carlsle Christian church, was toastmaster.

"Victory," a marvelous picture production in five reels, will be shown at the Grand Opera House, next Saturday night, Dec. 6, which will stir the patriotism of every American. Hundreds of thrills, made possible with the aid of battle ships, hydroplanes, gunboats, monitors, and destroyers, in action during a spectacular naval battle, exploding harbor mines, throwing columns of water more than 300 feet in the air, hundreds of cannon, tons of powder, gun cotton and dynamite, thousands of men in realistic fort and land battles, with terrific hand-to-hand encounters. Woven with this great picture is one of the sweetest, tenderest romantic stories ever told in the silent drama of the screen.

This picture is one of the world's greatest war dramas, made with the aid of the United States Navy, under the personal direction of J. Parker Reed, Jr., with a notable cast, including Joseph Daniels, Admiral Badger, Capt. Benson, John H. Powers, Arthur Hall and Anna Lehr. This marvelous picture, which is in five reels, will last one and one-half hours. The first reel will start promptly at 7:30, and if the lovers of motion pictures want to see a feature picture which is something above the ordinary, and which they will pronounce as wonderful, don't miss seeing this one. Admission 10 and 20 cents. (adv.)

At The Alamo Theater Today.

"The Kiss of Retribution," a Vitagraph drama. His trusting country sweetheart awaits his return in vain. He is held under the spell of an adventuress and doomed by her fatal kiss. Featuring Julia Swayne Gordon and Harry Northrup.

"The Chieftain's Son," a Biograph Indian drama. "Farewell, my people, I am done with war and words." Tai-oh was favored by the tribe as their next leader. Now, Koid-deh had long since sought to take his place. Thus, Tai-oh, as one sleeping, drifted down the dark waters of the river in his fast-flying canoe. But he returned and Koid-deh slept with his fathers, the vengeance of Tai-oh complete. Then Tai-oh went back to the maid who had taught him the way of peace. The cast includes Alfred Paget and Charles Corman.

"The Ten Thousand Dollar Toe." Much ado about a pretty pink toe that has a scar that will make or mar the hopes of its finder as a millionaire. On the same reel with Selig's educational, entitled "Scenes in Moroland."

Wednesday—"The Young Mrs. Eames" a powerful emotional drama. A close study of social conditions, with a strong and continuous heart interest. A fascinating widow loves a man much younger than herself, falls in love with her daughter. She happily learns this before it is too late, and sacrifices her own happiness for that of her child. A story complete in two reels.

"Sissybelle," the story of a boy who grows up to be a real man through the change of environment.

"Bobby's Long Trousers" an Edison comedy. Bobby was very proud of that first pair of long trousers, even if they did cause him considerable trouble at the picnic. But when he found that the girls in the office would not allow him to kiss them any more he made a quick change.

Thursday—"Extremities," a Vitagraph comedy. In this play the actors are invisible, excepting their hands and feet, by which we can readily follow the story and at the end we can easily guess the players. Featuring Maurice Costello and Clara Kimball Young.

"The Green Eye of the Yellow God," an Edison drama, from the poem by J. Milton Hayes. This is a vivid little tragedy of a brave man and a thoughtless woman. Featuring Charles Ogle and Laura Sawyer.

"How Betty Made Good," a Selig comedy. How a Western girl made good, winning health and incidentally a husband.

"Little Boy Blue" at Lexington

At the Lexington Opera House, Thursday and Friday, December 4 and 5, Henry W. Savage will offer the internationally established success, "Little Boy Blue." At the head of the presenting cast will be found Otis Harlan, who as Dupont, the French detective, the character which he originated and played through the long New York engagement, has scored the crowning success of an exceptionally distinguished career as a comedian.

The story of "Little Boy Blue" has no connection with the rhyme of our nursery days, and the piece is not an extravaganza. It is comic opera, pure and simple, comic opera at its best and the biggest.

The first act setting is among the midnight splendors of the famous Bal Tabarin, in Paris, one of the most famous resorts in the world. The second and third show the heather-clad fastnesses and the ancient castles of the Scotch Highlands, giving opportunity for the display of types in kilts and sporrans, rugged gullies and tartan maids. The tender melodies of the French school in the first act give way to a different order in the second, when the music takes on another hue in the romantic skirling of pipes and vigorous chanting of stirring Jacobite tunes.

Scientifically, the production is superb and it is doubtful if anything in recent years can be compared with the offering in the matter of costumes.

In addition to Otis Harlan company includes Vivian Wessell, Thos. Burton, Elizabeth Goodall, Frederick Lyon, Pearl Palmer, Rollin Grimes, and a sparkling chorus. A splendid grand opera orchestra is carried by the company.

At the Columbia Today

The American Film Company presents J. Warren Kerrigan, supported by an able cast, in "The Pitfall of the Installment Plan," in two parts. A human interest story replete with intense pathos, well dramatized. A Keystone comedy, "The Bowling Match." Do not miss it.
